1,135,570 YANKS
BACK TO CIVIL LIFE

Demobilization is progressing rapidly.

Up to February 10, 1,135,570 men had been discharged, Secretary Baker said yesterday afternoon.

Up to February 10, 1,135,570 men had been returned to the United States. On February 1, there were in hospitals in France 57,045 men sick and wounded. This is a decrease of 4,538 cases over the preceding week and 106,493 since November 14. A great many of these men, Baker explained, have been returned to the United States and sent to hospitals here, while others were discharged from the hospitals in France.

Since the armistice was signed 53,042 sick and wounded have been returned to this country. The total number of hospital cases sent from France and England since the United States entered the war now numbers 65,160, Baker said.

Hospitals to Help In Seeking Missing Yanks

An official channel for seeking the latest available information as to soldiers reported missing in action or otherwise lost track of has been opened by the War Department through the columns of the various papers published at army hospitals.

A statement issued yesterday suggested that relatives of such men write to the Port of Missing Men, Surgeon General's Office, Washington, or to the newspaper at the nearest army hospital. The inquiries will be circulated through Port of Missing Men columns in these papers, and may reach the eyes of comrades of the missing soldier, who can give some information not contained in military records.

FOR FLIGHT TO EUROPE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Capt. E. S. Lipner, formerly superintendent of the United States air mail service, yesterday telegraphed Secretary Daniels asking his co-operation in obtaining the mammoth seaplane No. 1 for the first air flight to Europe.

YANKS NOW SURE
OF OLD U. S. JOBS

Both houses of Congress have now agreed to the conference report on the deficiency bill canceling $15,000,000,000 in war appropriations and contract authorizations.

This bill, which now goes to the President, carries in it a permanent provision for the reinstatement in the Government service of those who left it to go to the defense of their country.

The provision as it has been finally written into the law requires the reinstatement of soldiers in the Government service, whether they were drafted or volunteered, provided they apply to be reinstated and are qualified to hold the positions.

It is expected this bill will be signed up promptly on the return of the President and it will then become law.

UNEMPLOYMENT CONFAB.

President Wilson personally will try to solve the unemployment situation immediately upon his return to the United States. By cable he has signified his willingness to preside at a conference of State governors, to be called by the Department of Labor to deal with this subject.

APPEALS TO WOMEN OF AMERICA

CATHERINE BRESHKOVSKAYA, "Grandmother of the Russian Revolution," who spoke at last night's victory dinner.

AMERICAN WOMEN
ENDORSE LEAGUE

A democratic league of nations that will bring a permanent peace to the world today has the endorsement of Secretary of War Baker and seven hundred and fifty representative women from all sections of the United States.

Meeting at a victory dinner given last night in Wardman Park Inn, the women listened to addresses by Secretary Baker, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, and Mrs. Charles Robeson, of Ottawa, Canada. At the conclusion of the speeches they endorsed the project of a league of nations, founded on democratic principles, which will bring a real and lasting peace to the world.

Russian Heroine Speaks.

Catherine Breshkovskaya, known as "the grandmother of the Russian revolution," described the plight of her country in the grip of the red terror and famine, and declared the United States should begin to work toward the period of peace which will bring relief to Russia and the rest of the world.

Julia Lathrop, head of the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, also addressed the gathering. At the close of the dinner, at which Secretary Baker was the only man present, approximately 500 other persons, adding to the crowd of 750 diners, assembled to hear the addresses.

The question of settling this war along the lines of the old "balance of power," or the new in the form of a league of nations, was discussed by Secretary Baker.

Don't Want Old Order.

"Peoples of the world and their governments do not want the old order of things to maintain," said Secretary Baker. "Doubt has been raised as to our desire for the new way, but there has been no other plan suggested."

Regarding "entangling influences," Mr. Baker said that no nation can sit by in eternal peace, "while the rest of the world suffers."

The speaker recalled a conference he had with Marshal Pétain in 1918, during which they had discussed the projected campaigns of 1919 and 1920. Mr. Baker said that should this war have lasted another year, the loss in life would have been doubled or trebled by new inventions of the allies, recently called upon the War College for estimates as to the cost of the war to the belligerent nations, ignoring the destruction of property.

Th. college reported an estimate of $193,000,000,000. As a comparative figure, the speaker said if the United States were placed on the market as an entity, its total value would be only $180,000,000,000. He declared 7,300,000 had been killed or died of wounds, with deaths from disease in the camps bringing the total to more than 9,100,000.

Tells of Canada's Part.

Mrs. Charles Robeson told of the part Canada played in the war. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw said the hope of America lies in the school rooms. The principles of a league of nations should be taught in the schools, she declared.

The reception the audience gave Mme. Breshkovskaya was most impressive. The diners rose and applauded as she was introduced.

She appealed for "the aid of American womanhood for Russia in the hour of her darkest distress."

Mrs. Desha Breckinridge presided at the dinner and meeting.

Article IV of the British draft was carried, providing that at the proposed international labor conference the representatives of the governments, the employers and work people should be entitled to speak and vote independently without regard to the views expressed by the other representatives of their nation, with power to draw up conventions binding on the states represented.

"Hitherto the delegates present at such a conference have represented the governments only, and the voting has always been by nations. It was felt, however, that in dealing with labor legislation the employers and the workers must be given the fullest opportunity of giving free expression to their views, and that they could not do this if the delegates of each nation were bound to speak and vote as a unit."

Article V was also carried, providing that the international labor conference shall meet at the capital of the league of nations, unless it decides by a two-thirds majority to meet elsewhere.

"The commission then proceeded to discuss the article dealing with the establishment of the permanent international labor office and the governing body which will direct its work. It was agreed that the office should be established at the capital of the league of nations as part of the organization of the league, and should be under the control of a director."

"The commission, at the President's suggestion, rose in honor of the birth of Abraham Lincoln."

ITALIANS ROUT REBELS.

ROME, Feb. 13.—Rebels, aided by Turkish artillery, attacked a column of Italian troops marching in the interior of Libya (Northern Africa). After a brief fight the rebels were defeated and fled in disorder. The Italians lost a few killed and fifty wounded.

SEA TRADE SCHOOL
ESTABLISHED AT G.U.

In co-operation with the United States Shipping Board, Georgetown University has established a "Sea Trade School" to train students for the national merchant marine service. It was announced by the university authorities today.

An organization meeting of the faculty of the new school will be held at the university, Thirty-Seventh and streets northwest Monday night. Classes will be assigned and on the following day the new school will have started its course.

Ocean transportation, ports and terminal facilities, staple commodities, marine geography, foreign languages and accounting will be some of the subjects taught in the latest school. Georgetown has established to prepare students for practical service in the peace era. The training in the new school will equip students to hold responsible positions with the merchant marine and with firms doing export and other shipping business.

Students for the new course will be selected by the Sea Service Bureau of the Shipping Board which has already selected a class of forty-five students. Shipping Board officials announced today. Plans for the sea trade school were worked out by a committee of the board by Lieut. J. Frew Hall, director of instruction in the board's personnel division.

The Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., regent of the school of foreign service, is the head of the new sea trade school. Associated with him will be Dr. R. S. MacIver, of Columbia University.

EX-U. S. EMPLOYEES TO BE REINSTATED

Soldiers, sailors, and marines honorably discharged from the service who were former Government employees, may be reinstated if they so desire, according to an announcement made by the Civil Service Commission today. The reinstatement of service men has been advocated by The Times in numerous editorials.

In a circular letter sent to chiefs of all Government bureaus in this city and throughout the United States the executive order issued by the President on July 18, 1918, was cited. A person leaving the classified civil service, "the order reads, "to engage in the military or naval service of the Government during the present war with Germany and who has been honorably discharged, may be reinstated in the civil service at any time within five years after his discharge, provided that at the time of reinstatement he has the required fitness to perform the duties of the position to which reinstatement is sought."

The commission writes to bureau heads: "Since reinstatement has always been discretionary with the head of the office concerned, it has been unnecessary for the commission to exercise any initiative, as the person desiring reinstatement and the head of the office in which his desired re-employment must first come to an agreement, otherwise the opportunity is closed to him."

Commission to Aid Men. Service men unable to be reinstated in their former office can apply directly to the Civil Service Commission for aid in securing a position. The name of the service man will then be put on the eligibility list for appointment.

The person's discharge certificate or a certified copy is needed when person is reinstated. "If unfitness exists," the commission states, "the Vocational Educational Board will be requested to take up the case with a view to the applicant's possible rehabilitation."

Politics in 1920 will be discussed at a meeting of Republican adherents at Republican Women's headquarters, 1623 H street northwest at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Frank L. Smith, Republican State chairman for Illinois, who has been boosting Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, for the Republican Presidential nomination, will make an address. Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns, chairman of the Republican Women, will speak.

War workers and Washington residents from Illinois are invited to the meeting. Tea will be served and a social meeting held from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock.
